Two Naval Reserve Officers Die In Flaming Plane

CRASH ENDS TEST FLIGHT AT OAKLAND

Companions Make Heroic Effort to Drag Victims From Blazing Ship

OAKLAND, Cal., June 9.—(UP)—Two naval reservists were killed and two others escaped uninjured today when their airplane crashed from an altitude of 50 feet after taking off from Oakland airport on a practice flight.

The plane burst into flames as it struck the ground and the men who were killed were burned beyond recognition.

THE DEAD

Lieutenant F. B. Waterman, 39, Sausalito high school teacher.

Lieutenant J. E. Pinkerton, 25, Berkeley.

The two who escaped were: Leroy Clifford Miller, 24, Fresno, and Cameron J. Pierce, 23, San Mateo.

Miller and Pierce escaped by leaping just as the plane struck. They were in an open part of the plane and could jump.

Waterman and Pinkerton were inside the craft and were doomed. Waterman and Pinkerton were taking Miller and Pierce up for a practice flight, airport attendants said.

Miller and Pierce belonged to the naval radio reserve.

Planes Plunges

Eye witnesses said the plane took off without incident, and was up about 50 feet when it suddenly nosed down.

The pilot tried desperately to straighten out the ship but his efforts were futile and the craft crashed.

An instant later the wreckage burst into flames.

ORFA JEAN SHONTZ CALLED IN PROBE OF LIQUOR GRAFT

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—(UP)—Municipal Judge Orfa Jean Shontz, whose retirement from the State Board of Equalization is a central issue in an investigation of liquor control corruption, will be one of the first witnesses at the assembly finance-auditing committee hearing here Friday.

Assemblyman Ralph Evans, a member of the committee, announced Judge Shontz would be an early witness after conferring with her for some time yesterday.

Evans reported he informed Miss Shontz that minutes of the board of equalization showed she was present when a bottled liquor drink was reclassified as a wine in a transaction which the committee charges was influenced by Erwin P. Werner, former Los Angeles city attorney, and his wife, Helen M. Werner, prominent Southern California politician.

Denies Action

"If the minutes say I was present at such a meeting, they are in error," Evans quoted Judge Shontz as saying.

The name of Joseph Weinblatt, convicted with former Justin Gavin W. Craig in the Italo-Petroleum conspiracy case, was drawn into the liquor control investigation yesterday by Miss Gertrude M. Davey, owner of the Lon Chaney Jr. cafe.

Miss Davey charged in a signed statement she made to Assemblyman Evans that a man she knew only as "Bob" advised her to go to Weinblatt last April when her

Demand $1000 Fee

The document then related that Weinblatt promised her license would be restored for a $1000 fee. When she objected, the price was cut to $500, with $250 payable in advance and the balance on installments.

"I don't get a cent of the first $250," Miss Davey quoted Mrs. Werner as saying. "It all goes for railroad fare, entertainment and taking care of the boys. I set my fee out of the second $250, and I am willing to take that on installment."

Miss Davey said she agreed to the terms and paid $140 down, paying the balance with a refund

LEGIONAIRES CALLED OUT IN CRISIS

Growers Indicate They Will Not Accept Edict Issued by Mexican Official

BULLETIN

The threatening strike of citrus packers resulted today in an emergency call to all American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars members of Anaheim to organize for the protection of life and property.

An emergency meeting will be held tomorrow night at 7, in the Legion hall at Anaheim, according to Earl Fulfer, Anaheim's Legion commander, and, at that time, methods to handle any situation arising should the strike occur, will be arranged.

The meeting is called by Commander Fulfer of the Legion and Commander L. N. Wisser of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

COUNTY-WIDE STRIKE

A Mexican citrus pickers was predicted today, when packing house officials received through the mails an ultimatum from the Mexican consul, Ricardo Hill, insisting that packers meet demands of the pickers before 2 p. m. tomorrow.

In their demands to the packing house officials, the members of the Mexican Pickers' Union are seeking free transportation to their places of employment, $3.50 for the first 30 filled boxes of

ZIONCHECK IS WATCHED AFTER TRY AT ESCAPE

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(UP)—Gallinger hospital attendants established a closer watch today over Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck, playboy congressman from Washington, after he broke out of the psychopathic ward and strolled through the grounds in bare feet and a flowing bathrobe.

Zioncheck was sent to the hospital for observation by alienists after a series of escapades which kept him in almost constant hot water with the police.

Kicks Screens Loose

Psychiatrists have been examining the congressman daily. A male nurse was assigned to remain in his room.

When the nurse stepped out for a few minutes, Zioncheck kicked two screens loose from their heavy fastenings and jumped through the window to the ground a few feet below.

Smoking a big, black cigar and with his bathrobe sticking out behind him, he began making circuits of the hospital grounds. The whoops and cheers of other inmates aroused hospital attendants. By the time they reached the

HARMONY MARKS CONVENTION: LANDONITES PLAN PLATFORM

Strive for Currency Plan That Will Not Alienate Gold Standard Foes

CLEVELAND, June 9.—(UP)—Landon platform drafters ran a revolt over a proposed farm plank today and hopes of cooperative efforts by Sen. William E. Borah dwindled when his aide, former Sen. John Thomas of Idaho, declined the key post of chairman of the Republican resolutions committee.

Troubles developed also over suggestions for a monetary plank on which Borah has demanded that Gov. Alfred M. Landon make clear his position.

Fear Borah Lost

The Thomas refusal was regarded as a blow to hopes of Landon managers to obtain friendly cooperation of Borah in writing the Republican 1936 platform. John D. M. Hamilton, Landon manager, supported the move to name Thomas as chairman of the resolutions committee.

Prospect of serious difficulties in framing a Landon farm plank appeared when Edward V. O'Neill, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, charged the Landon farm plan drafted by Rep. Clifford Hope and Sen. Arthur Capper was "too conservative."

O'Neill's objections tied into the fight over the monetary plank also when he took the position that "a competent farm plank must embrace the theory of a managed currency."

O'Neill also asked that the Landonites support a production control program.

For Sound Money

The Hope-Landon plan would provide for benefits to the farmers to compensate him for the cost added to what he buys by the tariff on manufactured goods.

On the monetary question, Landon leaders sought to write a plank calling for sound currency without alienating supporters who oppose a return to the gold standard.

Definite indications of sentiment for chairman of the resolutions committee was lacking in the face of Thomas' refusal to serve. Suggestions that Walter Edge of New Jersey be chosen were opposed by some Landon backers. Herman Langworthy, Kansas City, received mention as a possible choice.

Writer Sees "Inside" Of GOP Caucus

Aspirin, Tomato Juice Concessions Most Valuable in Town, Says Scribe

By Henry McLemore

CLEVELAND, June 9.—(UP)—Last you believe that I, a sportswriter, feel out of place in the Republican convention crowd, let me hasten to say that I already have been bopped on the head by a cake of ice thrown from a hotel window, and offered the honor lead in innumerable "Let Me Call You Sweetheart—Down by the Old Mill Stream" quartets.

This town, with the Republican elephants trumpeting all over the place, is a dead ring for Louisville during Derby week, St. Louis on the eve of a world series, or Poughkeepsie the night before a regatta. Headaches and hangovers are just as plentiful, and haircuts and sleep just as scarce.

It's only a step from the water wagon to the band wagon and the delegates have made it as effortlessly as Tom Mix transferring from his Pinto pony to a runaway express to save the heroine from a fate worse than death.

Elephant Never Forgets

The aspirin and tomato juice concession is, as usual, the most valuable in town. If it's true that a jungle elephant never forgets a kindness, it's equally true that a political one never forgets to take a drink.

The chief difference between a political crowd and a sports gathering, as I see it, is that the vote and platform boys call those hotel room blow-offs caucuses. That word "caucus" scared me off the first two or three I was invited to, but I finally was dragged into one. I also was dragged out. For the sake of consistency, you know. Veteran convention followers are caucus connoisseurs, and are very particular about the ones during the next week.

Three Major Addresses

Three major addresses and several informal rear platform appearances in Arkansas, Texas, Indiana and Kentucky will be strictly non-political, White House attaches emphasized, Democrats in the states planned rallies to greet the president, however.

The president's visits were regarded as of considerable political significance although most of the section to be visited is considered safely Democratic.

SOUTH GREETES PRESIDENT ON FRIENDLY TRIP

BOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL

EN ROUTE TO HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 9.—(UP)—While Republicans gathered in Cleveland to nominate his opponent for the presidential elections, President Roosevelt sped through the Democratic south today on a "friendly visit" to the southwest.

Crowds gathered at stations through Tennessee to greet the president and local party leaders boarded the train for brief conferences. Mr. Roosevelt left Washington last night on a trip that will take him 4000 miles, largely through Democratic territory, during the next week.

Convention Recesses After 50 Minutes; Reconvenes Tonight for Keynote

PUBLIC HALL, CLEVELAND, June 9.—(UP)—The Republican convention convened in this vast, lake front auditorium today and quickly ratified the choice of broad-shouldered Sen. Frederick Steiwer as keynoter.

A recess was ordered at 12:32, just 50 minutes after convening, until 8 p. m. tonight.

Steiwer was acclaimed before an audience of more than 10,000 persons in the flag-draped, gold, cream and blue assembly hall.

The convention's action came as managers for Gov. Alfred M. Landon struggled with thorny platform problems and enthusiastically issued forecasts of victory, probably on Thursday's first ballot.

Rear Steiwer Approval

Less than an hour after the call to order by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher at 11:43 a. m., the delegates roared their approval of Steiwer. The Oregon senator will present his keynote address at tonight's 8 p. m. session.

Approval of the temporary slate of officers quickly followed.

Three bands played as the convention ran off the formal organization business. Despite the lively music, delegates appeared in serious mood. The care-free spirit of many past conventions was lacking.

Republican notables crowded the convention platform. Many sat in their places with state delegations. But dramatizing his split with party leadership, Sen. William E. Borah remained at his hotel room. He may, however, attend tonight's keynote session.

Parley Opens Late

Fletcher brought the convention into being with a tattoo from his gavel more than 40 minutes behind schedule. Delegates and spectators had been slow in emerging from crowded hotels where many were engaged in conferences that lasted until early today.

"MELLON CASE LIKE ENGLISH SCANDAL"

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(UP)—Government attorneys today likened the Andrew W. Mellon $3,000,000 tax case to the recent J. H. Thomas budget scandal in England.

Initiating his final plea before the Mellon claim is sent up to the board of tax appeals for decision, Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson said:

"This board has something of the same problem in the denial of Andrew Mellon, controverted by a series of facts, as did the British court which heard Thomas' protestations of innocence faced with facts."

PATENT COVER STRANGLES S. A. BABY TO DEATH

BECOMING entangled in the covers of his crib about 7 a. m. today, 13-month-old H. Gordon Beckley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Beckley, 812 West Sixth street, strangled to death in a spite of heroic efforts to save his life.

The fire department's inhalator squad and a local physician worked for an hour over the baby but were unable to revive him. According to Mr. Beckley and others, little Gordon was covered by a patented blanket through which only his head was exposed. In struggling to loose himself after he awakened this morning, the blanket became wrapped about his throat, choking him to death.

The body was removed to Harrell and Brown's funeral home where funeral arrangements were being made. The little boy's father is an employee of the J. C. Penney company here.

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND DIES AT HIS HOME

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 9.—(UP)—John Hays Hammond, sr., 81, who won a wife through a foot-race and escaped a Boer executioner to become confidant of a czar and a president, died at his Look-out Hill estate late yesterday of a heart attack.

Hammond, a world authority on mining engineering, and a close associate of the great Cecil Rhodes, had frequent mild heart attacks recently. Yesterday, he ordered his car for an afternoon drive. When he failed to appear, his secretary, William G. Griffin, found him dead in the washroom off his study.

Miss Elizabeth Hammond, his sister, was in the house at the time, as were John Jr., the noted inventor, and Richard, two sons. The other two children, Natalie Hays Hammond, artist, and Harris, associated with his father in business, were in New York.

Chester Rowell To Head GOP Delegates

CLEVELAND, June 9.—(UP)—Chester H. Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, today was named state chairman for the California delegation at the Republican national convention.

The appointment was announced by the national committee.

Morley Griswold, former governor of Nevada, was named chairman for that state.

NATIONS CHECK CALLES' ACTIONS

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—(UP)—Activities of former President Plutarco Elias Calles in the United States, where he is exiled as an enemy of the government, have been the subject of discussion between the Mexican and United States governments, it was understood today.

The United States government is understood to have given assurances that, while Calles is welcome so long as he merely opposes the Mexican government, he will be declared persona non grata if he indulges in any activities that would violate neutrality.

Hold-Up Prevented By Telephone Tip

NEW YORK, June 9.—(UP)—Police answered a telephone tip so quickly that Steve Patrick still was pointing a gun at a bartender when they arrived. Steve pointed out he hadn't committed a robbery and said he only intended to show the bartender his gun. Police replied they hadn't intended to arrest him for robbery anyway.

MURDER SUSPECT IS CORNERED BY POSSE

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 9.—(UP)—Michael Milligan, eccentric poet, chicken raiser and dog track employee, sought as a suspect in the slaying of Mrs. Camilla Smith, proprietor of a South San Francisco pet store, today was believed surrounded by police, armed with machine guns, in the lowlands of a densely wooded area near here.

The man eluded trap after trap set for him last night, and darkness and the danger afforded by the swamps prevented officers from starting a systematic beating of the brush.

Guards were maintained at the homes of Mrs. Louise Cortella and Mrs. George Tiani, whom Milligan assertedly intended to kill because they and Mrs. Smith, he claimed, had conspired to cause his second wife, Anne May Milligan, to leave him.

FISHERIES CHARGE TAX BILL UNFAIR

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(UP)—The Pacific Coast Fisheries Institute charged today that tax bill amendments which would impose the regular 3-cents-per-pound import duty on sardine oil produced outside the west coast three-mile limit constituted a "monopoly-seeking subterfuge."

The amendments were attached to the measure in the senate late Saturday, under sponsorship of Senators William G. McDougall, D., Calif., and Hiram Johnson, R., Calif. They provide that sardine oil produced on the high seas outside the three-mile limit "shall be assessed with duty and with import tax at the lowest rates which would be applicable to such oil if produced in a foreign country other than Cuba."

PAULETTE GODDARD INJURED IN CRASH

HOLLYWOOD, June 9.—(UP)—A stolen automobile that crashed into Charlie Chaplin's limousine last night, injuring Paulette Goddard, his leading woman, was found by police today.

Two men abandoned the car and ran after speeding away from the scene of the crash on Hollywood boulevard, police said.

The machine banged into the rear of the Chaplin limousine and knocked it 15 feet. Miss Goddard suffered a severe bump on her head. William E. Rootes, English motor magnate, and his son, Jeffery, the comedian's guests, were bruised.

They went on to the Trocadero night club.

PLAN FUNERAL FOR MRS. EUGENE FIELD

HEAFFORD JUNCTION, Wis., June 9.—(UP)—The body of Mrs. Eugene Field was prepared today for burial in a shrine beside the body of her famous husband, the poet.

Mrs. Field, 79, died yesterday after a series of heart attacks aggravated by threatened foreclosure of the farm-retreat where she retired after her husband's death. Members of her husband's fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, rallied to save the farm for her.

Mrs. Field married the poet in 1873. Her husband died in 1895.

Funeral services were scheduled tentatively for the Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, Ill. Burial will be at the Field shrine in Kenilworth.

In addition to Eugene H. Mrs. Field is survived by a son, Roswell, New York, and two daughters, Mrs. Elma Foster, Tomahawk, Wis., and Mrs. W. C. Engler, Pasadena, Cal.

Rubins Returning To Face Charges

SHANGHAI, June 9.—(UP)—Si Rubins, former president of the Great American Petroleum company, sailed today aboard the States liner General Sherman, in custody of the captain of the ship, to face charges of grand theft and fraud against him in California.

He is wanted in Stockton, Calif., on 14 charges of grand theft, violation of the state corporate securities act and conspiracy. He and two other officials of the Great American were convicted last summer in connection with the promotion of an oil well near Galt, Calif. They won a new trial and warrants were issued for Rubins when he failed to appear for arraignment in March.

BLAME CULT FOR SEVEN-DEATH FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—(UP)—Police investigating asserted incendiary aspects of the seven-death apartment house fire here Sunday announced today they were seeking four men for questioning while another was held for investigation under $1000 bond.

The four, police were told by C. A. Purdom, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the home missionary department of the Seventh Day Adventist church, were members of a "cult" which had been opposed by Rev. F. C. Clark of Cheyenne, Wyo., Seventh Day Adventist leader who died in the blaze.

Running down the smallest circle in their investigation of the fire, arson experts announced they had unearthed a prophecy of "sudden death by fire," made during the opening sessions of the International Adventist conference here.

BABSON PREDICTS BRIEF PROSPERITY

BOSTON, June 9.—(UP)—America is entering another period of prosperity that will last at least two years, Roger W. Babson, economist, told the Boston Chamber of Commerce today.

"When it comes to discussing conditions five or 10 years hence, though," he said "this is an entirely different matter. Some day we have got to pay heavily for all these New Deal experiments...."

"In the meantime, credit inflation is inevitable. This means a higher cost of living, increased labor troubles and further political unrest."

check she had received from the board of equalization when it turned down her application for a license because the cafe was near a high school.

Intimations that the assembly committee lacked funds to conduct the hearing here Friday were denied by Assemblyman Evans who said it had sufficient money to carry on the investigation for at least a few days.

Evans said the committee would ask for additional sums from the governor's emergency fund if it needed more money.

"The money should be available from the governor's fund," he said. "That fund was provided for to take care of such occasions as this. If the money isn't forthcoming, I'm going to ask the governor just what it has been spent for."

Evans is a member of the Democratic minority on the committee.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO JOIN PROBE

OAKLAND, Cal., June 8.—(UP)—The state's highest law enforcement agency today entered the investigation into alleged graft in California's liquor control enforcement situation with an announcement by Attorney General U. S. Webb that he will see to it that an effective investigation of alleged corruption, graft and political favoritism is made.

Webb made his statement following a telephone conversation with Governor Frank F. Merriam, who previously has refused to be drawn into the controversy, which now has spread to three counties since confessions of bribe-taking were obtained from two former agents of the Alameda county grand jury last week.

ELWOOD SQUIRES IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8.—(UP)—Illness of Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the state board of equalization, today made doubtful his appearance before Assemblyman Leon M. Donihue's investigating committee in Los Angeles Friday.

Squires, an important witness in the statewide investigation of alleged graft and irregularities in liquor enforcement, was ordered to a hospital last night after his return from Oakland where he had testified before the Alameda county grand jury.

BACK IS FRACTURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

John W. Brakeman, 23, of Los Angeles, was in critical condition at Long Beach Community hospital today, following an automobile-truck collision at 2:30 a.m. in front of Bolsa Chica Gun club on Coast highway. Brakeman's back was broken, according to reports furnished California Highway Patrol Officer Horace Inge, who was called to the scene of the accident.

Brakeman's automobile collided with the rear end of a tank truck operated by Horton Wise, 32, of 522 North Janss street, Anaheim. Wise said he was driving the truck along the highway and knew nothing of the impending crash until it occurred. Brakeman's car was completely wrecked and the truck was badly damaged.

The church is all that remains of the once flourishing village.

GOP DELEGATES RECESS UNTIL NIGHT SESSION

flowers spotted the coat lapels of delegates through the hall and galleries were noisy with Landon enthusiasts.

First stir of presidential enthusiasm from the assembly floor came, however, when it was announced former Sen. John L. Thomas of Idaho, a Borah manager, had a platform plank to present to the resolutions committee.

Brief applause burst out at the announcement.

Launches Steam Roller

Though late in getting under way, Fletcher, suave and smiling, "steamrollered" the organization preliminaries through in speedy time.

Delegates chuckled quietly as he rapped through the appointment of temporary committees.

A great rumble of accompaniment came from the delegates as Rev. McCartney invited them to join him in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

A covered wagon drawn by four steers, rolled up outside the hall. It carried this sign: "Landon—Win the Prairie States."

Prayer Recognizes Crisis

The Reverend McCartney noted the great crisis with which the party is confronted in his opening invocation.

"Almighty God," he prayed, "in this solemn hour of national anxiety we turn with fervent prayer to thee in whose hands rests the governance of men."

"With chastened humility we confess our great national sins. Strengthen our faith in the democracy of a free people that we may cherish with gratitude the heritage of our fathers."

"Revive in this people the sense of human brotherhood, and spare our land from violence and discord, discord and confusion. Remember especially we beseech of thee those who have suffered in these recent years, the great army of unemployed, the wandering and homeless youth of the land, and all those who have been ground down under the wheels of the depression."

Mayor Burton presented Cleveland's own platform suggestions in his address welcoming the convention.

"This place," he said of Public Hall, "is dedicated to the practice of the rights and responsibilities of free assembly and free speech."

"May God help you to define the issues clearly."

First business after the prayer was the taking of the official photograph of the convention.

Capper Confident

Senator Arthur Capper took his seat with the Kansas delegation.

"There is no way that can stop Landon," he said. "If it's not on the first ballot it will be on the second."

Hamilton, wearing a gold and glistening badge as big as the adornment of a grand marshal in a steevedore parade, had an aisle seat in the Kansas delegation from which he could closely observe Fletcher whose job as chairman of the Republican national committee he expects to take next Friday—if Landon is nominated.

Fletcher introduced George De Benneville Keim, New Jersey, secretary of the Republican national committee who delivered to Fletcher the temporary roll call of the convention to be referred to the committee on credentials when it is appointed later today. Keim read the official call for the convention.

Following the election of Steiwer as temporary chairman the convention elected unanimously but without any show of enthusiasm the slate of temporary officers prepared for it.

The convention proceeded rapidly with routine organization and resolved that each major committee should be composed of a representative from each state, territorial possession and the District of Columbia.

As Fletcher proclaimed the recess, the band whopped up a lively tune, "Marching Along Together." The delegates jammed into the aisles.

The first half of the first day's big Republican show went off in

SOUTH GREET'S PRESIDENT ON FRIENDLY TRIP

Plans were made to receive Democratic leaders at almost every stop. The president was expected to receive first-hand reports of political plans from these delegations.

Confers With Leaders

Before leaving Washington Mr. Roosevelt spent a busy day preparing his speeches and conferring with Democratic senate and house leaders on tax legislation. He received assurance tax difficulties would be ironed out to permit adjournment of congress by the end of next week.

Mrs. Roosevelt will join the presidential party early tomorrow in Memphis. The first long stop will be at Hot Springs. He will be received by state and local officials there tomorrow and will continue to Little Rock for the first of his major addresses.

The speech, to be delivered at the Arkansas Centennial celebration, will be made at 6 p. m., C.S.T.

Thursday he will stop in San Antonio, Houston and Austin, Texas. He will arrive in Dallas to attend the Texas Centennial Friday morning. After a drive through the city he will proceed to the fair grounds for an address at 10:30 a. m.

POLICE CHIEF IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

"Police are only human, and like all humans, they sometimes make mistakes. Please don't judge your police department by the mistake of some individual officer."

This request was made today by Chief of Police Floyd Howard in an address before members of the Santa Ana Rotary club at their room meeting in Green Cat cafe. In his speech, Chief Howard traced the development and activities of the Santa Ana police department, pointing out the necessity of cooperation with the citizens of Santa Ana.

"It is your department, and will function only according to your wishes," the chief told Rotarians. "If there is some doubtful activity in Santa Ana, it is here only because you want it here. For that reason, I urge Santa Anans to communicate with the department at any time, and let us know our shortcomings so that we may act accordingly."

One of the most important phases in Santa Ana police work is conducted by Police Matron Dorothy Russick, Chief Howard said. Her work has become so important during the past year, that it is apparent that the department will soon have to add another matron. This is explained in part by the fact that too many parents call upon the police to handle unruly children.

"We are constantly attempting to improve the department," Chief Howard said. "We are 100 per cent equipped to offer instruction in first aid work, and are now planning a two and a half year police school which starts next Friday."

GROWERS GET STRIKE EDICT FROM CONSUL

oranges picked, and 7 cents per box for every box picked thereafter.

Brands Demands Exorbitant

A statement released by Growers Representative S. W. Strathman today, termed the demands exorbitant.

"The growers realize only too well that to yield to such demands and to accept the domination of a radically controlled union in the harvesting of a perishable crop would mean the ruin of the industry," Strathman said. "The growers believe that the groves and packing associations, being their property and their means of livelihood, they are entitled to retain and operate them, and intend to do so."

This latter statement was recognized as a virtual declaration of policy, and since the association has taken this stand, it is more than possible that the county will be thrown into a general strike tomorrow. The pickers have set 2 p. m. as the deadline for meeting their demands, Strathman said.

Violence in L. A.

"Agricultural groups in Los Angeles county have just experienced a six weeks' siege from this same union," Strathman stated. During that strike, three men were shot, two stabbed and approximately 40 beaten up. This strike was characterized by Communist demonstrations and "Beef Squad" tactics by strikers and radical sympathizers.

"The growers do not wish to have trouble. They desire only the orderly marketing of their crops. They appeal to the police officers of the county and cities to protect their property and their employees who do not wish to strike."

Threaten Workers

Strathman said that there was a majority of workers who do not wish to strike. These men, he said, have been faced with threats of bodily harm and property damage unless they fall in line with the Mexican strikers whose demands are being turned down by the growers and packers. Strathman urged police to protect the men who remain on the jobs, pointing out the danger which exists in such situations.

"We are at a loss to understand why the Valencia citrus industry which offers the longest period of harvest employment at the highest wage level of any agricultural product in the state that pays the highest wages of any agricultural state in the union should be selected for a strike, particularly at a time when the workers' income is the high-Strathman said.

ROBERTSON RETURNS FROM N.Y. CONCLAVE

O. N. Robertson, district superintendent of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, returned to Santa Ana yesterday from New York where he attended the annual Field club convention. The Field club is comprised of company representatives whose business has been greater than $250,000 during the past year. This year's conclave was the third attended by the Santa Ana agent.

Robertson left Santa Ana May 30, and after spending three days in New York, returned to California on the Union Pacific's famous stream lined train. While in New York, Robertson visited the famous auction, where many of California's famous brands of oranges are sold. The company's home office was also visited by Robertson.

A sister, Mrs. Virginia G. Cole, of Sacramento, is made heir to the estate, under the will, dated last August 20.

The estate includes $11,000 in bank accounts and a dwelling in Brea valued at $1000.

NAVY OFFICERS DIE AS PLANE DESTROYED

Miller and Pierce made heroic efforts to rescue their companions but the heat from the blazing wreckage kept them away.

The crash occurred about 150 feet from the highway that circles the airport. Several motorists witnessed the tragedy.

Victims Incinerated

Airport attendants extinguished the blaze but it was too late to save the trapped victims. Pinkerton's body was removed shortly afterward, burned beyond recognition. Identification was made from his position in the ship.

Miller and Pierce were unable to explain what happened. The first they knew, they said, was that the plane was "headed downward and we figured we had to jump for it." Attendances said Miller and Pierce were unscathed except for a minor shakeup and shock.

Sleep? Who? Me?

The sports filberts who poke their heads out of their hotel windows and yell all night, have their counterparts here. Until last night I never believed that the great who spilt the night air with his cries of "Good ol' Dizzy! Good ol' Dizzy! Good ol' Dizzy! Good ol' Dizzy!" at the 1934 world series in St. Louis, ever would be matched as a sleep destroyer. But he was not only matched but beaten last night by a political pistachio from Kansas who was all broken out with "Landonitis." This dignified delegate, with a fine scorn for the law of gravity, hung himself out of his hotel window until he was only paying room rent on his heels, and went to work for Landon.

"Good ol' Alf! My boy Alf! He can't miss. Wooooowwww—le!" The Kansan kept this up for some two or three hours. Then, apparently deciding that a street light, nine floors down, had no business competing with the moonlight, he let fly at it with a mineral water bottle.

"Missed, darn it!" he yelled when the bottle crashed on the sidewalk. Undismayed, he continued firing until his ammunition ran out and the house detectives banged into his room. Refused more bottles, he again draped himself out of the window, honey-suckle vine fashion, and resumed his broadcasting.

"Good ol' Alf! My boy Alf! He can't miss! Wooooowwww—le!" He'll probably wind up as postmaster general.

Police News

Andrew "Wimpy" Cruz, 22, 1004 East Washington avenue, Santa Ana, was sentenced to county jail for a term of 30 days when he appeared in city court yesterday on a charge of being intoxicated. Cruz was arrested by local police at Tenth and Spurgeon Sunday night, following an accident.

A car in which he was found had collided with a parked car belonging to Leland H. Hall, 318 North Birch. Following the wreck, officers said a man jumped from the car and ran; today Officer Ralph Pantuso reported the man was Leo Nyquist, 71, of Seattle, who allegedly ran to Tenth and Main where he was struck by an automobile driven by Ted Comp, Jr., 33, 811 East first. Nyquist suffered a broken arm and was taken to Orange county hospital.

Walton I. Smith, 38, arrested here and charged with drunk driving, was fined $150 by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday. Smith was arrested by State Highway Officer Horace Inge.

Ikugi Kikuchi, Route 2, Santa Ana, told city police yesterday he presented $10.33 instead of $1.33 at a local drug store in purchase of an alarm clock, when he mistook a $10 bill for a $1 bill. A check-up at the store revealed the cash register receipts were not "long" but were "short" by approximately $8, according to a report to police. Kikuchi went home without his $10 bill.

Speeders Caught in Mopup

These erring motorists know now what a traffic mopup means. Caught in the Chicago crusade in which jail sentences instead of fines are being imposed, they are shown scrubbing their cell, offering a warning to other motorists that the city no longer will pamper offenders. Left to right are Mike Voight, 30 days; Guard Stanley Welgos; Mike Nedlik, 30 days; Robert Stangle, five days; and John Komperda, 20 days.

Dr. Walter F. Miles, of Yale, told the District of Columbia supreme court that a man reaches his peak of physical efficiency when 22 years old, and then starts to decline. . . . And just think, it was only a few years ago that they were saying, "Life Begins at 40." Personally, I think the Doctor could have even gone a little further. . . . Records of WPA workers prove that after 22, they not only start to decline, but also, decline.

I guess the scientist was playing safe when he didn't mention women. . . . All they need is an occasional re-upholstering, a new paint job, and they can go on forever.

Of course, as far as politicians are concerned, I don't quite agree with the Doctor, as statistics show that the strength of the Republicans didn't start to decline until after '32.

LOADED TRAILER IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, which is thought to have started from a cigaret thrown from a passing car, partially destroyed a loaded trailer on a Goodwill Industries truck of Los Angeles, on the highway one-half mile east on the Manchester boulevard, near Buena Park.

The Buena Park fire department arrived at the scene of the fire shortly after it was discovered by the driver at 3:45 p. m. and the state fire truck from Orange aided the department. The fire was under control when the state truck arrived. Damage of $100 was estimated to the trailer.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

A great philosopher once wrote, "Religion has value in giving splendor to what must be borne in any case." But this is not the whole story.

God does not want you to suffer. If He protected you from it you would lose your independence and fail to grow into faith, courage and strength.

These characteristics are necessary to one who expects, as you do, to join your dear one in Paradise.

As you share your heartache with Him, He will show you how to bear it bravely and to demonstrate what faith can do for you.

MAYFIELD—At Jamestown, R. I., May 21, 1936, Mrs. Lavina A. Mayfield, aged 83 years. Mrs. Mayfield was a resident of Santa Ana and had resided here 50 years. She had been in Jamestown only five weeks. Mrs. Mayfield was the aunt of Mrs. Bess Hill and Mrs. Lulu Johnson of Santa Ana and Avery Hall of San Pedro, and step mother of Mrs. L. E. Jones, Jamestown, R. I., and George R. Jones, Tolleson, Ariz.

DEATH PENALTY DECREED FOR WIFE SLAYER

A jury of eight women and four men, headed by the wife of a former county prosecutor, as foreman, decreed the death penalty last night for Natividad Valenzuela, 24-year-old wife slayer.

Today, Valenzuela's defense was desperately trying to avoid that fate for him, by seeking to prove to the same jury that he was insane on May 2, when he beat his beautiful 17-year-old bride to death with an auto jack.

But one blow to its hopes already had fallen when the noon recess arrived today. Dr. Edward Waite, of Norwalk state hospital, one of the two alienists appointed by the court to examine the defendant, testified that the killer was sane on May 2 and is sane now.

Dr. Aaron Rosanoff, of Los Angeles, noted authority on mental diseases, and the author of text books on the subject, was expected to testify this afternoon.

Jury Out 6 Hours
The murder jury brought in its verdict of first-degree murder, without recommendation of life imprisonment, at 9:13 last night, after deliberating for six hours and 23 minutes. The jury had taken the case at 2:50 p. m. after District Attorney W. F. Menton had closed argument for the state and the instructions were read by Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Frances Nelson, wife of former District Attorney A. P. Nelson, was forewoman of the jury, and presented the verdict to Clerk Ed Kolbe, who read it to the court. Judge Allen then ordered sentence pronounced Friday at 10 a. m.

Should the jury today find Valenzuela sane, so that he is confronted by the death penalty, the new state law making appeal in capital punishment cases automatic, would operate in the case, and Valenzuela could not be executed until the state supreme court has passed upon his case.

Relatives Testify
This law was enacted by the last legislature as a result of an error in the case of a Los Angeles murderer, whose appeal to the higher court had not been acted upon when he was executed.

Valenzuela's father, Graciano Valenzuela, and brother, Lusorio Valenzuela, sought to aid his cause with their testimony at the insanity trial today. Both testified that he is insane and has been so from birth. They told of displays of temper, in which he threw objects and struck children.

In cross-examining the father, Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis summed up the description of Valenzuela as "Just a bad boy with a mean disposition."

Turner Linam, 32, of Orange, who was returned here by Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger, from Poison, Mont., for prosecution in connection with theft of tools from an Orange garage, faces preliminary hearing tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in Judge A. W. Swayze's justice court, Orange.

Jack Brennan, 50, accused of being intoxicated and creating a disturbance at Stewart place on Huntington Beach boulevard and Garfield road, during the weekend. Vaded not guilty before Justice Chris P. Pann of Huntington Beach court yesterday when arraigned on a drunk charge. He demanded jury trial which was set for June 11. Mrs. Stewart alleged she was struck by a beer bottle and threatened by a gun in the hands of Brennan.

Charged with failing to pay out a contract for purchase of tires which he sold when he sold his car, Burdette H. Maxwell of Santa Ana, appeared before Justice Kenneth Morrison today and was given 30 days in county jail. However, the sentence was suspended with the proviso that Maxwell pay out the remainder of the contract and a $15 fine. He must pay out the contract, now almost completed, by July 1.

Wind velocity yesterday averaged 3.9 m.p.h., according to records at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 51 at 6 a. m. to 77 at 1 p. m. Relative humidity was 44 per cent at 3 p. m.

JAYSEE CO-ED BRINGS BOA CONSTRUCTOR TO CLASS FOR NEALLY TO PSYCHOANALYZE

By MARVIN SPICER

It is said that next to a newspaper man the hardest person in the world to surprise is a psychology instructor. However, E. M. Nealley of Santa Ana junior college was noplussed this morning when Helen Grigsby, jaysee co-ed, brought a live boa constrictor to class to be psychoanalyzed.

One usually associates this var-at junior college this morning Rosy was a busy snake. Taking every advantage of her chance at higher education, the boa would poke a long inquisitive nose into everything and shoot snake-eyed glances at everyone who dared to come near her. Miss Grigsby has found out that most adults fear snakes while little children don't shrink from handling them. Knowing her power to frighten people Rosy appeared to delight in sticking out her forked tongue toward onlookers just to see them shrink back.

Instructor Nealley refused to administer the psychoanalysis for as he laughingly admitted he also has a dislike for reptiles.

Snakes for Pets
A snake to most people seems a far from pleasing playmate to have around. However, to Miss Grigsby it is not out of the ordinary that she should have such a pet. To her the reptile is much less undesirable than many of the usual animal friends. She adopted snakes as her choice of pets because when she was a young girl she was inherently afraid of butterflies. Back in her home in Wisconsin her childhood chums soon found out about her dislike for butterflies and would tease her by putting moths in her bed at night. To counteract this terror Miss Grigsby decided that she would learn to like snakes. After she had overcome the natural horror with which most people view reptiles, she began to keep her wiggling pets about her all the time and was onto him that put a butterfly in her bed at night for Miss Grigsby would retaliate by placing a snake in the guilty one's bed.

Rosy in her homelife is exceedingly tidy and no trouble at all to keep. Her wants are few. In eating Rosy had mannerisms not unlike the gigantic anaconda of South America. If she can, Rosy swallows the frog whole but if her prospective dinner is too large or too active her prey is soon rendered edible by constriction.

The old axiom "as cold and slippery as a snake" does not apply to Miss Grigsby's pet. Rosy is warm-blooded and not slimy as many reptiles are. During her hour stay

WEST OBJECTS TO GEO. MALONE EXPENSE BILL

The $570.87 expense account of George Malone, consulting engineer for Newport harbor, presented to the county supervisors following his 21-day trip to Washington on behalf of the county flood control project and the harbor maintenance project, was protested today by Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, who declared it was "excessive and padded."

West moved the account be disallowed, but was prevailed upon by his colleagues to withdraw his motion until Supervisor Willard Smith, who is committeeman in the case, had opportunity to check the items listed.

West himself objected particularly to an item of $108 for meals during the 21 days; also $41 for messenger service and $30 for taxi fare. He requested, in withdrawing his motion, that the Malone account be set forth in items.

West approved a portion of Malone's bill to the board amounting to $358.59 for work performed at the harbor.

Malone was previously paid $1020 in salary for his trip to Washington. Today's bill represented expenses only.

County officials credit Malone with having wielded strong influence in obtaining favorable governmental action upon the Orange county projects. He is employed on the basis of a $250 per month retainer, with $50 per day and expenses while actually engaged in service.

Horgan, the driver of the death machine, was accompanied by "Bart" Martelson, 42, of Los Angeles, who suffered severe injuries when the car turned over.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

BONING—Preparations for President Roosevelt's Texas trip taxed the patience and good nature of the official and unofficial staffs at the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt introduced a homey note when she suggested that "Buddy" Peabody, vaudeville banjoist, be brought along so as to entertain back-platform listeners. Mr. Roosevelt quickly vetoed that suggestion for fear his visit to the southland might be hailed by hostiles as "a patent medicine show." But FDR caused Secret Service and reportorial squawks when he arranged for a 250-mile automobile trip so that he might visit Harvey Couch, power magnate and Majority Leader Robinson's erstwhile law client.

Though billed as a tour of historical shrines which will not stir the headlines from the Cleveland convention, train schedules have been arranged for numerous stops. And Mr. Roosevelt laughingly confides that he will not be so ungracious as not to "say a few words." He's been boning up on Arkansas and Texas history—and politics—for a month. You can't find a book on these states in the Congressional Library these days.

TWINS—Last November Francis Garvan Wilsonian Democrat and organizer of the Chemical Foundation, wrote to Secretary Wallace urging him to swing behind the chemurgic movement for more intensive use of farm products for industrial purposes. Mr. Wallace ignored the letter till a few days ago, when somebody around the White House discovered that the G.O.P. planned to headline chemurgy as an antidote to New Deal farm policies.

Mr. Wallace immediately replied to the seven-month-old letter, mildly questioning the promise of chemurgy. Next he and Mr. Garvan spent two hours with the president at a luncheon which had been arranged without Mr. Wallace's foreknowledge. FDR was apparently making up for his cabinet member's neglect of chemurgy—and Mr. Garvan.

When the secretary was asked if he and Mr. Roosevelt had succeeded in capturing the chemurgic movement, he replied with a twinkle in his eyes: "We understand each other. I'm a scientist and so is Mr. Garvan. We're applying scientific practices to agriculture all the time."

AWKWARD—

American admirals who run the navy have prescribed a bitter pill for Great Britain at a moment when John Bull can't afford to swallow any more sour medicine.

The 1930 naval treaty requires the signatories to reduce their tonnage to the 5-5-3 ratio by December 31, 1936, when the agreement expires. Although Great Britain, the U. S. and Japan have tonnage in excess of treaty limits, the pact set up no date or machinery for scrapping. For five years the three countries have violated the spirit of the agreement. With war in the offing, Great Britain hesitates to sink 40,000 tons of excess destroyers and submarines. It would weaken the grand fleet and probably upset the Baldwin ministry.

So 16 Downing Street sent out feelers. It asked if the U. S. would permit England to keep these over-treaty ships till December 31, when all restrictions would be off, and in return we could keep ours. It was supposed to be an under-cover inquiry. But the admirals blabbed that they had turned down the request. They insisted that, in accord with the treaty, Great Britain explain why she needed these extra ships. And the last thing the Baldwin-Eden government wants to do is to admit publicly that it's afraid of a challenge by Mussolini in the Mediterranean.

DIFFERENCES—

Mild-mannered Henry Wallace struck the last blow in his fight with doughty Harold Ickes for supremacy over millions of acres of grazing lands now in control of the secretary of the interior. It balanced Ickes' moves to steal the forest and conservation services from the secretary of agriculture.

In the last hours of congress Mr. Wallace forwarded to Capitol Hill a 1400-page report explaining why grazing acreage should be placed in his charge. He declared that the department of the interior had neglected these resources for years, permitting cattle to graze on the small, independent cattle owner. It was a blistering document.

Mr. Ickes exploded when he heard of the attack. "Why," he stormed, "we got control of these lands only two years ago, when the Taylor grazing act was passed." Then he publicized the hidden cause of their feud, adding: "And Mr. Wallace's men tried to persuade the president to veto that law." Except for these differences, Messrs. Ickes and Wallace are good friends and two of FDR's top-notch New Dealers.

DUEL—

For three years another feud has split the Federal Communications commission. The two principal duellists are Chairman Anning Pratt, Tammanyite, and George Henry Payne, ex-Bull Moose.

They differed over petty and major issues. For a while they did not speak when they met in the corridors or at commission conclaves. Mr. Pratt regarded Mr. Payne as a mischief-maker, and Mr. Payne insisted privately that the chairman was not aggressive enough in ruling the air. Again and again the president was warned that their get-to was sabotaging effective administration. Though normally deaf to such tips, eventually the president intervened.

"You two have got to talk to each other," he said. At the next meeting Mr. Payne leaned across the table and whispered in Mr. Pratt's ear, and the latter repeated the parting words. They looked and acted like marionettes moved by the same string. And the story is that they haven't exchanged a word since they made up that first time.

UNITING—Taking a tip from legislative victories achieved by organized labor, farmers and veterans, American business leaders have apparently decided that they must pursue the same tactics.

That's the inside explanation for the numerous new members which have signed up with the United States Chamber of Commerce. Renewals of membership have struck the unprecedented figure of 92 per cent. It was only 89 per cent in 1929 boom days, and it dropped as low as 70 per cent at the depth of the depression.

C of C spokesmen deny that organized business and industry are "ganging up" against the New Deal, as suggested by Edward F. Hutton some time ago. They report that many new members are fairly favorable to some Rooseveltian policies. What seems to be happening is that big and little business men are coming together to solve their problems—reemployment, for instance—in hope of staying off further government reforms. They think they can negotiate a better bargain with FDR—sooner or later—if they present a united front.

NOTES—Sam Becker, counsel for Communications commission, is out to make a reputation as a Pecora—he's spearing A. T. & T. executives on publicity methods. A big man in Securities Exchange commission says "no new adventures are planned." The country will see a whole lot of commemorative half-dollars this year. Huge orders for planes for both army and navy will be given—money's ready. New York and San Francisco are rivals for world's fairs in 1939.

I feel it my duty to let all suffering humanity know of this valuable Gly-Cas. It has no equal," continued Rev. Tibbets. "This new herbal remedy took right hold of my stubborn case, cleansed my entire system of its poisons and I have not felt as well in years as I do now. I relish every bite I eat, nerves are quieted, sleep good and seldom have any pain at all. That dreadful suffering has been relieved that I thought impossible, my head is cleared and I feel as if this new Gly-Cas has actual given me a new lease on life. There can be no doubt now of Gly-Cas' merit."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy's Drug Company, 108 West Fourth Street, Santa Ana, and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.

Path of New Assault on Everest

In man's fifth attempt to reach the "roof of the world," a group of daring young Britons are struggling along the route depicted above toward the untrod summit of the Himalayan Mount Everest, world's highest peak. Carrying on a venture which already has taken numerous lives, tortured by intense cold and rarefied air, and almost balked by a premature monsoon, the climbers are establishing camps at the heights indicated. After passing the blizzard-swept North Col, they will try to place Camp No. 7 at 27,800 feet, higher than ever before. Then in one desperate spurt, they must reach the summit and return—only one-half mile of the most perilous travel in the world—in 15 hours.

RESIGNATION OF 4 TEACHERS ACCEPTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Resignations of teachers, and election of others to replace them or fill other vacancies, occupied the attention of the board of education last night. Four resignations were accepted, two leaves of absence granted, two teachers transferred, and nine teachers were elected to positions here.

Miss Lottie Sweet, principal of Franklin school, who is moving to New Mexico; Miss Helen Bower, of McKinley school, who will soon become a bride; Miss May Pulham, of Roosevelt school; and W. P. Read, of Willard Junior high school, resigned.

Lowell Schmidt, of Burbank, who served as an exchange teacher in Santa Ana two years ago, was elected to Read's post in academic subjects, at Willard, at a salary of $1800. He is a son of the Rev. G. G. Schmidt, pastor of the First Evangelical church.

Robert M. Clark, 22, graduate of Stanford, with post-graduate work at Harvard and U. C. L. A., formerly on the staff of the Los Angeles Herald, was elected instructor of English and Journalism at Santa Ana high school, at a salary of $1800.

Miss Wyllys Anderson, of Willard, who has been serving during a leave of absence granted to her, Dorothy Broadway Erickson, was returned to that post, as instructor of physical education, when the board extended Mrs. Erickson's leave.

Miss Helen Woodworth, of Santa Ana, now employed in Santa Barbara, was elected school nurse to replace Rhea Miller, who requested and obtained a leave of absence for next term.

Thomas C. Dyer, 24, graduate of U. S. C., was elected instructor of social science and physical education at Santa Ana high school, at a salary of $1500.

Four elementary teachers were elected to fill vacancies in the schools. They were: Miss Florence Messamer, U. C. L. A. graduate; Miss Gretchen Turner, U. S. C. graduate; Miss Margaret Lyman, Pomona, graduate; and daughter of the director of music of Pomona college; and Miss Dena Rudolph, graduate of U. S. C. All will receive the starting salary of $1200 per year.

Alan Revill, who has been teaching music at both high school and junior college, was transferred to junior college exclusively. Superintendent Frank Henderson informed the board he had received acceptance of election from Herbert G. Bickel, of Santa Barbara.

Non-Support Of Parents Charged

Charged with non-support of his aged parents, Ray E. Black, 48, of Los Angeles, was arrested by the Los Angeles sheriff yesterday and returned to Orange county by local Deputy Sheriff G. E. McKelvey and James Musick to face prosecution. He is charged with failing to help support his indigent parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond J. Black, 83 and 77 years old, respectively. Black pleaded not guilty before Justice K. E. Morrison today and asked for jury trial which was set for June 17. He was released on his own recognizance. He claimed other family costs had made it impossible to give the assistance he wished to his aged parents, and that he had not been regularly employed.

Police News

Theft of $65 worth of electric equipment, including motor, 100 feet of cord and a kit of automobile tools from the Guy D. Pollard home garage in Buena Park, was reported to the sheriff's office today. An investigation is under way. The thief broke off the hook of the rear garage door.

J. A. Kester, 56, 323 South Kroeger street, Anaheim, and R. G. Cotten, 22, Waginites, were in county jail today, beginning terms after convictions in Fullerton, of drunk driving. Kester was ordered to pay $180 or serve 90 days, while Cotten must serve 37-1/2 days in lieu of paying a $75 fine.

PLEADS GUILTY TO THEFT; GETS TERM IN JAIL

On petty theft and simple assault complaints against him, James Z. Benson, 31, of Los Angeles, pleaded guilty before Justice Kenneth Morrison today and was sentenced to serve six months in county jail on each of two counts.

A felony complaint, charging Benson with an alleged attack upon Edwin E. Parker, 610-1-2 West Fourth street, by use of a nail file "with intent to produce great bodily injury" was dismissed and the simple assault complaint substituted. According to Parker, who furnished bail for Benson's release from jail on the petty theft charge, Benson returned to the Parker place and allegedly "worked over" Parker's face with a nail file. The petty theft complaint grew out of Benson's asserted failure to pay over moneys collected for a local business organization.

SCHOOL BOARD DELAYS ACTION ON BOND ISSUE

Although the board of education discussed at length the proposal to call a $615,000 bond election, for retirement of the Greene Bill loan for school rehabilitation, no action was taken at last night's meeting. The matter was deferred to a special meeting next Monday evening.

The board last night decided to place a linoleum covering over the cement surface of the balcony in the new high school auditorium, the cement having proved unsatisfactory. By arrangement with the contractors, Therman Means, and Ball and Honer, the contractors will bear a portion of the cost.

Bids will be asked at the next meeting on the purchase of a grand piano for the new auditorium.

The board renewed its contract with the Y. M. C. A. for lease of the Y athletic grounds and equipment, for Santa Ana Junior college.

Additional buildings at the Junior college campus were planned last night when the board authorized detailed plans for two structures to house the home economics department, at a probable cost of $3000 each. A class room, and rooms for food and clothing, are tentatively planned. A third building also will be moved from the high school campus to the Junior college campus, to house the journalism lab, electricity lab, and offices.

Employment of a student, at $2 per week, to care for the Junior college weather station during the summer vacation, was authorized.

THE TWYMITES

As Duncy landed on his knees, upon the ground, he shouted, "Please chase that wild donkey out of here. He's not a friendly sort."

"I was as kind as I could be, yet you saw what he did to me. You tots may think it's funny, but I do not like such sport."

"As long as you're not injured, son," said Copy, "no real harm is done. However, I've a good idea that your hunch is right."

"The donkey is too wild for us. If we climb on he'll start a fuss." Another Tiny added, "I, too, think that Duncy's right."

"I guess the best thing we can do is turn him loose. Forget him, too." Then Windy clapped his hands, which made the wild beast raise an ear.

Another moment quickly passed, and then the donkey ran real fast.

He disappeared, and Duncy said, "I'm glad he's out of here." The "Tiny" girls had walked away, and shortly Goldy stopped at say, "Why, look! I see a tool chest. It's the magic man's, I'll bet."

"If we can find a bit more wood, we'll build a beast that will be good." The magic man came up and said, "Some wood I'll gladly get."

"You two girls run around my shack and do your building in the back. Then we'll surprise the others. Just what do you wish to make?"

"A husky dog," cried Goldy. "Gee, twill be as handy as can be. We'll build a cart for him to pull, and then a ride we'll take."

"Okay," the old man said, "and I will do my very best to try and help you with the little task. The work soon was begun."

As it progressed, fair Dotty said, "Say, we have made a dandy head. We're getting on just fine, and with your help, it's heaps of fun."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

ADMIRAL SIR GEORGE SOMERS, in 1609, led a fleet of eight caravels, conveying British colonists to the new plantation that was being started in Virginia. A hurricane blew up, the vessels were scattered, and the Sea Venture, with Admiral Somers, was wrecked on a reef, one of about 360 little islands that make up what is now called Bermuda.

It was one of a series of wrecks which threw adventuring sailors on these islands ever since they first were discovered by the Spaniard, Juan de Bermudez, in the 15th century. None claimed the islands, however, until Admiral Somers' arrival in 1609.

Somers died in 1610 and his followers named their haven the Somers Islands. But the name that has remained recalls the islands' original founder.

Many Bermuda stamps illustrate the Sea Venture, which brought the first British settlers so unexpectedly to these islands. One such stamp is shown here.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

ELEPHANTS have a heart beat rate less than half that of humans, and contrary to the findings with all other animals, an elephant's heart beats faster when he is lying down than when he is standing up. One elephant examined was found to have a heart that beat only 22 times per minute.

Hummingbird Has Nest On Electric Wire In Garage

SILVERADO, June 9.—The time honored custom of nest building in trees has no appeal for one little hummingbird in Silverado canyon. She turned down all the alluring branches, flew into the Z. M. Lout garage and built her tiny cabin on a swaying electric wire. At first she disputed the right of possession with the Lents but now she sits contentedly swinging while they back their car or run it out. The mere noise of a motor troubles her not at all.

THE GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE by Jean Seiwright © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive side shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail and her new friend, Lizette. He frequently sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, MARK CHAPMAN, long a wanderer, returns to his home in the hands of the Travers Mining Co. Mark suspects the deal is crooked. He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, the rightful owner of the property. REX HALL, Lizette's son, is representing the Travers company.

Mark tells his friend, old JED HOSKIEER, what he knows about the Travers company and writes a letter to GILES HARDING, New York lawyer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVIII

"HELLO, old thing!" Rosemary Searles exclaimed as she rushed toward Gail, coming out of the employees' entrance of Madame Lizette's shop at 5 o'clock. "I'm frightfully sorry I got you into such a jam!"

"Oh, don't worry about that." "Well, that woman has no right to talk to you like that. You're no slave. I think it's horrible that you have to work for such a creature, and before that I thought you were lucky! But, come on—hop in the car. I'll take you to your clubhouse."

"You don't need to do that, Rosemary."

"I know, but I'm staying in town with the Langs for a few days—you know Betts is getting married—so I can't invite you to dinner. Some friends of Betts are giving her a dinner tonight. How about meeting me for lunch tomorrow?"

"I'd love to, though I only have an hour."

"Well, we can make it in an hour all right. And say, Gail, I wish you could let Madame Lizette know that I was going to order a dress for Betts' wedding this afternoon but now she's lost that order and a lot more because I'll never remember her to any of my friends."

"I can't say I'm sorry." "Have you seen any of the girls since you came to New York?" "Only Lucille!"

"Lucille? Where did you meet her?" asked Rosemary eagerly. "At Mrs. Morton's."

"Oh, the Mrs. Morton's who's so interested in art?"

"Yes, Derek Hargreaves introduced us."

"Oh, an old friend, I suppose." "The car stopped. 'Is this where you live?' queried Rosemary.

"Yes, it's not a bad place inquainted with any of the smart little places in their vicinity. She was amused at Natalie's eagerness to learn all about Mrs. Morton's reception, Derek's work, and when she was to see him again.

Their talk drifted to other topics, and in the course of the conversation Natalie mentioned some stocks she'd just bought. "One of my friends who has quite a fine position with a broker told me the other day I'd better get rid of any Travers stuff I might have, as there are rumors Mr. Travers is not finding it so easy."

"You mean the Mining company, 'Lucille's father'?"

"Yes," answered Natalie. "Of course I don't buy mining stocks, so I've nothing to dispose of, but one thing I can tell you—every time Arlene has given me a tip like that she's been right."

"But I thought the Travers' family were so rich!" exclaimed Gail.

"Oh, right now they still have plenty, but you should see what a rumor on Wall Street can do to any fortune, especially if it's the least bit shaky."

When Gail said good night to Natalie, her thoughts were still with Lucille. What would she do if anything happened to her father's fortune?

DEREK HARGREAVES glanced at his wrist watch. It was five minutes to five. He hung his palette on the wall of his studio, stuck his brushes into a jar, and pulled off his smock.

He hadn't realized that this was Wednesday—the last day the Ferrara Gallery would be open in the evening. He was smiling when he reached the avenue. Half a block more and he'd surely meet her. Suddenly round the corner she came!

"Gail!" he cried, as, with outstretched hands, he welcomed her. "I was afraid I'd miss you, Sweet, and we must see the pictures to-night or Mrs. Morton will never forgive us. And we're going to dinner first. Yes—right away!"

he added, as a questioning look came into her eyes.

"Oh, but I feel so grubby. I must go home and get cleaned up."

"Well, come on back to my studio. It's quite near. And I can show you Lucille's portrait."

"You've started it already?"

"Yes, Lucille's given me three sittings. Quite an amusing girl, isn't she?"

They entered the studio and closed the door behind them. Swiftly Derek drew her to his heart. "Darling," he whispered, "tell me you love me!"

Striking View of Ship Christening

Miss Mai Duane, descendant of William J. Duane, Secretary of the Treasury in President Jackson's cabinet, took no chances on missing the christening of the new U. S. Coast Guard Cutter at Philadelphia Navy Yard. She grunted her teeth, grasped the baptismal bottle of champagne firmly and used both hands to smash the flag against the Duane's prow. Then look what happened.

on the matter, but official action did not come until last night when the board of education acted.

Reboin Meets Officials

Reboin was present at the board meeting, and met members of the board. It is necessary, before Reboin signs a formal contract, for him to attend summer sessions at the University of Southern California to acquire general secondary credentials. It was stated, to entitle him to full-time work at the Huntington Beach school.

Coaches Harry Sheue and Leon Miner of the Oilers will not be affected by Reboin's shift.

Harry Sheue, head of the physical education department. He will coach track and continue nominally as the "head man" in football but wants to relinquish much of the gridiron burden. Miner will coach basketball and baseball.

Reboin was graduated from Santa Ana high school in 1931 after a career in football, track and other sports that made him one of the finest all-around athletes ever developed here. He was a three-letter man in football at Southern California. Upon his graduation at Troy a year ago, he returned to Santa Ana as Coach Bill Cook's assistant in football at Santa Ana Jaycee. Reboin also handled the Don basketball squad last winter and coached rugby this spring.

WIND STOPS OWENS, METCALFE RECORDS

CHICAGO, June 9.—(UP)—A cold wind frustrated record-breaking attempts of Jess Owens, Ralph Metcalfe and other Negro athletes in yesterday's Central A. A. U. track and field meet.

The meet was an Olympic try-out.

Owens won the broad jump with 25 feet, 3 inches. Metcalfe won the 200-meter dash in 21.3 seconds. Owens and Metcalfe teamed with Ben Johnson and John Brooks in an attempt to break the 400-meter relay world's record, but their time of 41.4 seconds was 1.4 seconds short of the mark.

Cornelius Johnson of Compton junior college won the high jump at 6 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 9.—(UP)—The stock market today advanced for the third consecutive session, carrying prices to around the best levels of the month.

Dealings picked up slightly over recent dull trading but still left much to be desired on that score from the Wall Street viewpoint.

Many of the brokerage houses are losing money heavily because of lack of business, reports from the financial district indicate, but there is a growing optimism based on hopes the market soon will be shaken out of its lethargy.

Today's rise was best in the mercantile section where demand was aided by outlook for a substantial pickup in business when the soldier bonus is paid on the 15th. Tobacco also were hit up on estimates that cigarette output was holding around recent record levels.

Electric Power & Light was the most active issue with Allied Stores second. Other issues whose sales totals ran into five figures included Radio Corporation and General Motors.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

One of the principal subjects that is agitating the minds of the American people at this particular time is the Old Age Pension Fund plan.

I have made a study of this question, analyzing every phase of the problem and cannot see where anyone, even the few whose only measuring rod is the length of a dollar bill, can criticize a plan for adequate protection for those who could probably render a greater service to society by retiring from the field of activity.

I believe any honest citizen will admit that he could not become extremely enthusiastic for the passage of legislation which may mean the collapse of his own business, so naturally my study of the Pension Plan did not disregard possible effect on life insurance and life insurance companies, believing that if any ill effect should prevail under such a plan, life insurance would be the first business to feel it. From this standpoint we have nothing to fear. The very question of old age pension has stimulated the purchase of life protection and every burden that is lifted from the individual burden-bearers will increase the flow of energy, ambition and love of country that only God fearing Americans can understand.

Many times the argument is advanced that the government should not be forced to care for those who have never made an attempt to provide for the future. Anyone making this statement evidently has not realized that in most cases this particular class of people is now being cared for through some form of charity. There is no embarrassment felt by the people who have never attempted to provide for old age when asking aid from either local or national sources and in looking up the statistics of the people who have passed their 60th birthday we will find the percentage of those who are in position to live from their own resources, so small that the early frugality of the majority hardly enters into the question. This, of course, particularly applies to the present more than to any other time in American history.

Fortunately I have never been compelled to depend upon any form of charity but I have seen many men of integrity, energy and intelligence forced to sacrifice personal pride and self-respect, which took the better years of their life to build, in order to secure crumbs with which to keep soul and body together.

Old age pension is not a question for the future generation to decide, it is our problem today. We are either going to solve it by immediately working out a reasonable plan with adequate provisions regardless of political affiliations or other plans of radical proportions may be ours on account of procrastination. You can be a radical either way. My advice is to stay on the road of common sense and reason.

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

It seems to be popular now to shout from the house-tops against children working. The louder any man can proclaim that he is against child labor, the more he contends he is proving that he is humanitarian.

When this question is analyzed, it is hard for practical people to understand how boys and girls can be kept from working up to 18 years of age and then automatically switch over and be interested in work and be industrious. People who believe that the laws of life and nature do not change with time, are of the opinion that boys and girls, as well as grown-ups, largely learn by repetition and by imitation. They contend that to keep a boy and girl from learning to do useful things by imitation and repetition until they are 18, is indeed unkind to the children.

These people who believe that nature does not change, cannot help but wonder whether this popular wave against children learning to help themselves is not due to the egoism and vanity of the fond parents. They cannot help but wonder whether the parents do not themselves get a great amount of enjoyment by the feeling that they get from giving to their children; that the parent becomes so imbued with this feeling of giving, that he does not really consider whether he is harming the child by doing so much for him or not; that the parent is satisfied, if, by this giving, it establishes in his own mind that he is a thoughtful, kind, generous and loving parent. This feeling that he is this kind of parent gives him great joy. The fact is that it so often harms the child seems to be entirely forgotten in their self-admiration. This feeling of superiority over others, who take a practical view; this feeling that they are so strong and so powerful and so willing to be martyrs, seems to blind them from the harm they so often do to their children by keeping them in a state of dependence and the habit of being so carefully watched after and directed, that the child has not time to develop his own initiative, has not time to learn by repetition and by imitation.

Of course, there is no practical man who wants children to work long hours in unhealthy conditions, hurting their health. Yet, at this same time, every far-sighted parent wants his child to learn to do something for himself as soon as he is able to do it. He believes that the child should learn to do practical things early in life and should continue his search for the truth long after the ordinary years of schooling. In other words, he believes young folks should be learners and doers at the same time, as they cannot be learners for a while and then automatically cease to be learners and be doers. If a boy is surfeited with trying to learn, when he stops his concentration on learning to try to do, he is very much inclined to neglect for many years studies intended for self improvement.

So, it is doubtful whether, in the long run, this wave to try to pass national child labor laws that would put the control of our children into the hands of dreamers and theorists, who would be obliged to handle the whole country and all people on a universal rule, is at all wise.

A WORTH WHILE PROJECT

Capt. R. W. Harvey of Santa Ana, retired Army officer who has settled in this city, comes forward with a definite and workable plan which may result in considerable benefit to not only this community but to the entire county.

Appearing before the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, Captain Harvey made known his plans, which all ready are in workable shape and which should bear golden fruit for Orange county. Briefly, the plan is to launch a continuous plan of contacting Army, Navy and Marine officers as soon as they are retired, and calling their attention to the desirability of Orange county as a residential district.

While the chamber of commerce would aid the program, the letters and information about this city and county would be mailed by a new club now being formed, the Arnama club, comprised of retired military officers now living in this county. Letters to an Army man would be signed by an Army man, etc.

In an effort to establish contacts with the retired officers as they leave the service, a list of all retired military men in this county would be sent along with the other information, in the belief that among all the names, the recipient of the letter would find some friends and acquaintances.

Like attracts alike, it has been said, and objectives of the local chamber can well be carried out by supporting this program of attracting desirable citizens to Orange county. That these retired military men would be desirable citizens is unquestionable. They would purchase homes and have a steady and certain income with which to supply their wants and needs. Their expenditures would stimulate employment.

Captain Harvey is to be congratulated for his interest in the matter, and commended for clear vision which enabled him to see what could be accomplished.

ROBOT READERS

Six months' study of the newspapers of Europe has convinced Prof. R. R. Barlow of the University of Illinois that international discord is nothing more than the product of a muzzled press.

Dr. Barlow's observation is that the "European newspaper reader is merely a robot manipulated by dictators and bureaucrats, who make him think and act as they wish." The German, for instance, knows practically nothing about what is going on beyond his borders and less about events at home, while Italian journalists print only what Mussolini gives them. Even the British "see Hitler only through the eyes of the foreign office."

Nowhere in Europe are there reporters comparable to the American newspaperman, according to Prof. Barlow. And nowhere in the world is there the freedom of the press that we enjoy as American citizens. That's important, so long as there is to be social, political, and economic progress in this country.

SAFETY PROGRAM

The Society of Automotive Engineers, having had a great deal to do with the kind of motor cars we drive today, now comes forward with an interesting six-point program designed to make it safe to operate these vehicles.

The engineers would require a uniform and universal license law, based on physical and mental tests; enforcement methods that would identify the accident repeater and the habitual offender; uniform and compulsory periodic inspection of vehicles; uniform national traffic signs and signals; uniform standards for head-lighting, reflectors, identifications, etc.; and finally adequate highway lighting.

At a time when the movement for the safe use of motor vehicles is sweeping the country, this six-point program ought to prove important as a working basis for whatever reforms are brought about in driving.

WAR ISN'T OVER

Out of Rome comes the tragic story of 30 young Italian soldiers who were ambushed and massacred by Ethiopian natives. Thus comes the first intimation of the long guerrilla warfare that Il Duce's legions are sure to face in colonizing the new territory.

At the same time, official communiques from Rome place the "blood cost" of Italy's Ethiopian war at 4359 lives. Of these, 1304 Italians were killed in combat and 1009 died of illness or accident. The others were native troops.

The Fascist campaign in Africa is not over. It faces two dire threats—guerrilla warfare on one hand and the scourge of mortal sickness on the other. It would seem that the conquest of Ethiopia has just begun.

The Big Show Starts

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 9—The first day of a national convention week might well be called the day for the verification of the claims and counter-claims of the various candidates.

As the delegates arrive, the canvass begins to determine whether the delegates are really as loyal to their candidates as they have professed to be.

Some idea of what the game means can be derived from a study of the behavior of the different managers themselves. They claim everything—but privately they concede what their minimum strength really is.

Thus check-up of various delegations and a heart-to-heart talk with some of the managers would seem to indicate that Governor Landon has at least 350 votes for the first ballot. His supporters claim as high as 510, which is more than enough to nominate.

Any candidate who has 350 votes as a minimum is within striking distance of the goal, and if his managers can develop a bandwagon psychology they can easily get the remaining votes. So the Landonites have been busily engaged in creating an atmosphere of immediate triumph.

As a matter of fact, all that can be said at this stage is that Landon is in the lead, that many delegations "have heard" that he is a good man and would make a good candidate, but, apart from that, they are for the most part not particularly devoted or tied to anybody's cause. There could be, for example, quite a lot of friction over platform planks, in which case the Landonites would have to be shown and enemies and factional strife could be developed which would be reflected in the balloting. For it must be borne in mind that the platform fight will come first and then the nominating.

Every convention may seem to be different from its predecessor, because faces change, and so do issues and personalities contending for power. This convention reveals some unusual aspects, but it is too early yet to say that fundamentally the Republicans have undergone a rebirth. There is, of course, a very determined and intense feeling on the part of many delegates who want only to beat the New Deal, an antipathy to so-called "old guard" or ultra-conservative forces and a rather aggressive disposition to make a liberal or progressive platform.

Looking over some of the delegations, there are some of the old faces, former senators and former members of the house, who look upon "liberalism" as so much "hokey" and as the arousing of false or impossible hopes. Then there are the young enthusiasts who venture to believe that much can be accomplished in the way of reform if the party will only start to travel in that direction.

Platform-making is, to be sure, the center of all controversy and it does look as if the eastern and western concepts, the so-called conservative and the so-called progressive views, will clash. Actually, the difference is one of approach. The politically minded writers of platform planks want to promise as much as possible and catch votes. The realists want to write platform planks that have some prospect of being fulfilled by the candidate if he is elected.

The wording of these platform planks will mean much to the future of the battle. The principal bones of contention at the moment are the agricultural, the tariff, and the currency planks, though there are signs of a debate over the suggestion that the convention declare itself for a minimum wage for women.

What seems likely on the last point is that the platform will declare for a subsistence income based on an American standard of living, the same to be made possible for every individual, regardless of age or sex, who is willing to work. But whether this can be obtained by writing comprehensive state legislation without any new amendment or revision of the constitution or whether the plank shall declare for the principle and say that it shall be achieved by the states and by amendment of the federal constitution "if necessary" is something around which the whole debate may revolve.

Inasmuch as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has declared himself against any governmental power to fix wages, whether minimum or maximum, it is not likely that the Republican national convention will enter that controversial area. Likewise, many women's organizations oppose a minimum wage that affects women only. So the approach would seem to be to insist upon subsistence wages set by state commissions according to the prevailing standard. This would mean the exercise by the state of its own police power and in reality the exercise of its right to prevent an individual from becoming a public charge.

There is plenty of constitutional power embodied in the states to enable them to protect themselves against the drain of a continuous dole, and if they stay away from wage-fixing and from discriminations on the basis of sex, it would seem that the situation can be met without any additional constitutional power. On the other hand, to remove all doubts as to where the Republicans stand, they will be glad to go on record as favoring whatever constitutional revision is necessary to accomplish the objective.

Judging by the present trend, the platform drafting and debate will take all of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with the nominating speeches coming on Thursday night and the balloting on Friday.

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Me and Lucky Leroy Shooter was walking alone just wawking along, and he said, O boy, how's that for a swell pair of bow legs? Meaning a traffic cop standing in the middle of the street blowing his whistle to make automobiles stop and go, and I said, O boy, I get you could run rite between them and he'd never know if he wasn't looking.

That's a good idee, I dare you to try it, Leroy said, and I said, No, you try it, you're such a lucky guy it'll be safer if you try it.

You had the idee in the first place so it's only fair you awt to be the one to try it, Lucky Leroy said. Go ahead, and if he actually says anything you can tell him you slipped on a bannanna peel, he said, and I said, Well suppose he wants to see the bannanna peel?

Being a good anser, and Lucky said, Well I tell you what, let's toss up for it. Here's a cent and I'll even leave you do the tossing. If it comes heads you have to do it and if it comes tails I have to do it, he said.

And he handed me the cent, and I tossed it and it came down heads, me quick saying, That's one, we're tossing the best out of 2.

Who said we was? Leroy said, and I said, Who said we wasn't? and he said, O all rite, what do I care?

And I started to toss again, thinking, I'll lose anyways, that guy's too lucky. And I tossed the cent so high and wide we could even see where it landed, and we hunted for it without finding it, only Lucky Leroy found a dime while he was looking, and I claimed it was only fair for me to toss up the dime instead of the cent, and Leroy claimed I didn't toss strate enough to be trusted with a whole dime, and he finely compromised by getting it changed and giving me 3 cents for my share for being present when it was found, and by that time the whole subject was changed so the traffic cop never knew what almost happened to him.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

It is at best a question of hours, at most a question of days, until the Republicans will reveal their intentions to the nation in a platform.

What that platform will be is still on the lap of the gods.

Paul W. Williams has recently suggested ten specifications for this platform that are worth rehearsing.

Here are the ten points:

- (1) It should be short.
- (2) It should be forthright and sincere.
- (3) It should not stress unduly the financial side of the picture.
- (4) It should not read either like a Communist Manifesto; it should contain a minimum of believing and denouncing.
- (5) It should be sparing in the use of adjectives as applied to the New Deal. It should be explanatory, if the point is not clear.

(6) It should be temperate and well-balanced.

(7) It should contain in addition to the sound money, tariff, and balanced budget type of planks, proposals for relief, social security, and labor legislation.

(8) It should, of course, stand four-square on the Constitution.

(9) It should offer a constructive program designed to encourage business, revive industry and restore normal employment.

(10) It should concern itself with the problem of the farmer in something more than a superficial way, and should give him a real parity with industry.

Here is a genuine challenge to statesmanship!

MIND THE PETS

If you don't want to be awakened in the night with a feeling of fearful guilt pressing upon your conscience and driving sleep from your eyelids, take care of the cat this vacation time.

Your cat knows your house as her home, the family as her friends even though she has not said much to you about it. She clings in trusting faith to home and leans on your care. She expects her food and her shelter as a matter of course. Don't fail her, for she is helpless without you. You are responsible for her dependence upon you, and there is no excuse for your breach of faith. You won't be able to face a cat again as long as you live if you fail your own.

When you are putting away the blankets and covering the pictures remember the cat. If she can go along to the country take her. She will travel like a lady if you put her in an airy basket with a little sweet butter on her toes for comfort.

If you cannot take her find a home for her, one where she will get good care, until you return. There are cat homes where your cat can be boarded. Or there is a friend down the street or a few houses away, who will take her in and make her as comfortable as possible during your absence.

Whatever way you find out of the situation don't leave her on the street to find her food and lodging as best she may. The strange dogs will worry the life out of her and leave her dead body on the road. Strange and heartless children, there are occasional ones, might stone the poor thing until she takes refuge in some dark and dirty corner to tremble and wonder at the queer ways of this world. Or she might fall sick and go mewling about the closed house pleading for the sight of a familiar, friendly face and the sound of a voice that was wont to call her by her name. You couldn't do that to a cat which trusted you. If you do, I warn you that you will be haunted in the night by a pitiful mewling. That will be the ghost of the cat which once trusted and loved you and which you betrayed. Mind the cat.

You are not so likely to forget the dog, but just to make certain, are you taking him along? Or are you finding a good home for him? Look into the home you select for him if you have to leave him behind. They are not always what they promise to be. There are people who take in dogs for the money their care brings and who remember the money so keenly that they have no memory whatever about the dog's mealtime, or his bed, or his bath.

Pets are members of the family. They are keenly alive to their membership, have strong affections for the people to whom they belong, and for their place where they belong. Human decency demands that pet owners keep faith with their animal friends. A little inconvenience on your part, a little forethought, and the pets are reared for and the whole family feels better. Mind the pets.

Register Clearing House

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor Register:

I was amused by Mrs. Robert Horn's indignant letter, published in your Clearing House in answer to your excellent editorial of June 1 on the Complicity of Educators. She seemed to overlook the fact that your criticism was directed, not at the helpless teachers, but at the divinely appointed so-called educational leaders. I find that a great many teachers feel just as you do about education, though they are afraid to say so openly. They are not, however, the teachers who bemoan out-of-date equipment and urge widespread adoption of "progressive" methods. They are those who understand the fundamental educational idea of "Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and the student on the other."

Have you seen the news items in the Los Angeles Times of June 4 and 5 describing the investigation of the Pasadena schools by a committee of parents which included a number of well known Caltech professors? Despite the rather distinguished personnel, I note that Paul Sexson, superintendent of schools, had the audacity to "question the ability of parents to make a significant survey of school conditions." Is this not a perfect illustration of your statement that "anyone who does to suggest that there might be an improvement in educational methods is regarded as a rank meddler." Henry Suzzallo, in the introduction to "Moral Principles in Education" says that "education is primarily a public business and only secondarily a specialized vocation. The layman, then, will always have his right to some utterance on the operation of the public schools." I think this statement by one of our few distinguished educators will give you heart to write other editorials on this subject from time to time.

As the schools grow more and more "progressive" and the children learn less and less, I sometimes wonder how long the parents are going to accept passively the dictates of the educational gods, whose chief interest is certainly not the education of the next generation.

Let's publish this communication I must add that I am often thankful that my children attend a school where "old-fashioned" teachers still hold sway. I, for one, think there are advantages in being able to read and write and perhaps even to add a few figures without an adding machine, though I observe that the "progressive" education in Pasadena feel that none of these skills is important.

Sincerely yours,
CARROLL B. BEEK,
Balboa Island.
